***In French with English subtitles***

It's 1763 and the Mozart family's exhausting life on the road involves travelling by coach from one royal court to the next, where the nobility marvel at young Wolfgang's prodigious talent. But it was accomplished singer, harpsichordist, violinist Nannerl, Wolfgang's elder by five years, who first held forth as the family's infant prodigy. She is still performing, though getting overshadowed and sidelined as accompanist to Wolfgang. Her father, Leopold, bows to social strictures 'for her own good,' refusing to let her continue with the violin or to compose, while privately conceding Nannerl's talent to his wife Anna-Maria. No longer a precocious tot, Nannerl chafes at the limitations imposed by her gender and frets about her prospects. Available 1 March – Outdoor from May (TBC)

But arduous training in a wilderness Lacrosse camp under the tutelage of his dad's old combat buddy, Sgt. Major Duke Wayne, opens Conor's eyes to the true meaning of maturity, sportsmanship and manhood. Available 15 March – Outdoor from 15 May (TBC)

February 2012 Release*LIFE IN A DAY

Documentary, Rated PG, 95 Minutes

Oscar -winning film director Kevin Macdonald's LIFE IN A DAY is an idea borne out of a unique partnership between Ridley Scott's Scott Free UK and YouTube. The film is a user-generated feature-length documentary, shot on a single day – July 24, 2010 – that enlisted the global community to capture a moment of their lives on camera. The world responded by submitting more than 80,000 videos to YouTube, representing over 4,500 hours of deeply personal, powerful films from contributors from Australia to Zambia, from the heart of bustling major cities to the furthest and most remote reaches of the earth. LIFE IN A DAY brings together the most compelling YouTube footage into a 90-minute film, crafted by Macdonald, Executive Producer Ridley Scott, Producer Liza Marshall and their team, to offer a unique experience that shows, in beautiful, humorous and joyful honesty, what it's like to be alive on earth today. Available 9 February – Outdoor screenings from 9 April (TBC)
